Much Accomplished In Jr. High Repair

Work on the refurbishing of the East Junior High School for which $500,000 was appropriated at the March town meeting has progressed during the summer months.

The loose and warped flooring has been removed in many of the rooms and plywood put down preparatory to the installation of carpeting. Bids are scheduled to be called next week on the carpeting as well as for new flooring and library shelving.

The sound system in the auditorium has been put in order and lighting fixtures installed where they were needed.

Tradesmen, including carpenters, electricians, painters and heating specialists have been at work in the school since its closing in June.

Following the half million dollar appropriation provided at town meeting, Town Manager Richard J. Bowen attempted to make the repair of the school a community effort among the building contractors of the town. The first meeting

Bus Service Franchise Grant Due This Month

Two months remain before the MBTA, now owner of the Eastern Massachusetts St. Rwy. Co., is scheduled to move out of the Greater Lawrence area.

The successor will be the Michaud Lines which now provide service in Greater Haverhill as well as other communities. The Town of Methuen has already granted a franchise to the Michaud firm. Andover's action will come at the next regular meeting of the board of selectmen on Aug. 12. North Andover is also expected to act about the same time. Lawrence is also committed to the Michaud company as the carrier to provide passenger bus service in this area.

The Michaud officials have been making studies of the various routes in Greater Lawrence. They have promised that if patronage warrants, the service will be increased. Evening and Sunday bus runs were eliminated some years back by the Eastern Mass.

Sanitary District Bill Signed By Gov. Volpe

Gov. John A. Volpe has signed the bill creating the Greater Lawrence Sanitary District, made up of the city of Lawrence and the towns of Andover, North Andover and Methuen.

The bill was signed by the governor on July 24 and becomes effective in 90 days.

Within the 90 days, the four communities must vote on the establishment of a multimillion dollar sewage treatment plant. This will be the first step in the cleaning up of the Merrimack River in this area.

The towns will have to hold special elections; the city's commitment may come through a vote of the city council.

Andover's share of the capital outlay has been estimated at close to $2 million. This capital cost will be met by a bond issue. When in operation, the town's annual contribution to the operating cost will be about $100,000.

At the March town meeting, acting under Article 23, a bal-

Rogers Brook Project Off Main Street

The Rogers Brook piping across Main Street was completed last weekend and the street opened for traffic. The street was closed for four weeks - since June 24 - and only pedestrians could move along the business section.

Installation of the 84 inch pipes is now going ahead along Barnard Street where it will make a connection to an already buried section of the line put in place early in the operation.

The next segment of the brook project will be along Bartlet Street where it will connect with the pipes placed across Memorial Park.

The Bartlet Street effort will be delayed since the contractor will have to re-lay the town sewer line there. The Rogers Brook project is expected to last well into the late fall or winter.

Suffolk-Emerson Will Affiliate

An academic cooperative program between Suffolk University and Emerson College, effective in September, has been announced by Richard Chapin, President of Emerson College and Judge John E. Fenton, President of Suffolk University.

It was stated in a joint announcement by the two Boston institutions that the affiliation will make more efficient use of their resources and use relative departmental strengths in science and speech as well as to use available classroom space.

Emerson is a coeducational college of the communications arts and sciences and Suffolk is noted for its law school, and its undergraduate liberal arts and business colleges.

The new agreement will have Emerson students using the science laboratories and classes at Suffolk and Suffolk students going to Emerson for speech and theater courses. Emerson is located on Beacon Street at Berkeley Street and Suffolk University is located at Derne and Temple Streets on Beacon Hill near the State House.

In making the announcement, the two presidents stated that the geographical proximity of the institutions, plus the mutual benefits of the students being able to profit by the strengths of each institution, should benefit those students whose electives include science and speech.

During the 1968-69 semesters, Suffolk University will offer Emerson College students one course in physical science (eight semester hours) and one in biological science (also eight semester hours). Each course will accommodate some 60 students, making a total of 120 students. In addition, students can cross-register for courses not offered in their own college.

Emerson College will provide instructional and coaching services, equal to 30 semester hours, in coaching a debating society, directing a drama workshop and instructional services in speech including voice and articulation.

During the course of the program, the deans of Emerson College and Suffolk University shall meet periodically to review the program, and the registrars of each institution will also conduct meetings to aid in the cross registration of students.

Gun Law

Governor John A. Volpe recently signed a new gun law designed to protect the citizens of the Commonwealth and the legitimate interests of the sportsman and shooter by keeping all firearms out of the hands of recently convicted felons, narcotics offenders, habitual alcoholics, and mental patients.

The new law, which goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1969, will not effect hunters during the coming hunting season. The law requires that any person owning or possessing a handgun, rifle, or shotgun obtain an identification card. All persons not in one of the excluded categories are entitled to the identification card as a matter of right.

In order to avoid a backlog of applications at the beginning of next year, persons possessing firearms may apply for the card before that time and their receipt for the two-dollar fee will serve as a substitute for the card until it is issued.

Mrs. Ritchie B. Cummings

Cummings - Meaney

At a 4 o'clock Nuptial Mass last Sunday afternoon at Saint Robert Bellarmine Church in West Andover, Miss Martha Catherine Meaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Meaney, of Andover, formerly of Auburndale, became the bride of Mr. Ritchie Buchanan Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cummings, of Dublin, Georgia, formerly of North Andover. The Rev. Paul Keyes officiated. A reception was held at the Andover Inn following the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of white organza over peau de soie. The Empire bodice and chapel-length train were lavishly trimmed with hand clipped Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of stephanotis, white roses, baby's breath, and ivy. Her head piece from which fell a full-length veil of silk illusion was large organza flowers and seed pearls.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Paul J. Keough, of Hackensack N.J. was matron of honor, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph S. Meaney, Jr., of Sherborn, was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of spring lime with empire bodices trimmed with matching Venice lace. Their bouquets were various shades of blue and purple delphinium, purple asters, and ivy.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Meaney wore a raspberry pink silk jacketed dress and a corsage of pink bud roses. Mrs. Cummings wore a pale blue beaded dress and jacket. Her corsage was pink and white roses.

Mr. James E. Cummings, father of the groom, was best man for his son. Ushers were the bride's brother, Joseph S. Meaney, Jr., of Sherborn, Paul J. Keough, brother-in-law of the bride of Hackensack, N.J., Ritchie Buchanan, Jr., and Steven Buchanan, both of North Hampton, N.H.

The bride was graduated from Newton College of the Sacred Heart. Her husband attended Georgia Institute of Technology. After a short wedding trip to Nantucket, the couple will reside at Milledgeville, Georgia, where Mr. Cummings will continue his studies at Georgia College.

4-H's Perfect Projects

Thousands of 4-H Club members specializing in electric projects are putting finishing touches on their work as the 4-H year draws to a close.

Then finished products, demonstrations, exhibits and the like are judged for awards - usually at 4-H Round-up, County Fair or Achievement day. The wide range of projects undertaken by both boys and girls reflect home needs or special interests.

On farms, maintaining electric powered equipment is an important and money saving endeavor. In the home are numerous electric appliances for study and service. All 4-H'ers learn the fundamentals of electrical energy and their application. Safety is another important factor.

Younger 4-H'ers learn to repair electric cords and check outlets and wiring for signs of wear. They soon are able to re-wire old lamps and make new test lamps and simple reading lamps.

Some older teenagers work on complicated electronic devices, including sound systems, radio and television. According to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H, scores of electric projects are available to 4-H youths.

The Westinghouse Electric Corporation is the first and only sponsor of the electric awards since the program was introduced in 1936 by the Extension Service. Currently about 160,000 members are participating.

Those between 14 and 19 years of age can compete for state and national awards which consist of educational trips to the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago, and six $600 educational scholarships. An estimated 6,000 boys and girls from coast-to-coast this year will claim a county electric medal.

In addition, a handsome plaque is offered to counties for having launched electric projects that proved beneficial to members, their homes and communities. Counties in more than half the states last year earned the plaque award.

Any grade or high school student who would like to join 4-H and start an electric project should contact another 4-H member, a local club leader, or the county extension office.

Rev. John C. Maloney

Fr. Maloney Austin Prep Headmaster

Rev. John C. Maloney, O.S.A., PhD, has been named the new Headmaster at Austin Preparatory School in Reading, Fr. Maloney succeeds the Very Rev. George F. Burnell, O.S.A., who founded Austin Prep in 1962. The change will become effective in two weeks.

For his youth Fr. Maloney brings an unusual combination of talent and preparation to the position of Headmaster at Austin Prep. Born in Lansdowne, Penna., a suburb of Philadelphia, he himself attended prep school at Malvern Preparatory School near Villanova University. It was at Malvern Prep that Fr. Maloney as a student learned and lived the prep school tradition. It was also at Malvern that Fr. Maloney was inspired to follow the path of his teachers and joined the Augustinian Order. While a young student at Malvern, Fr. Maloney was active in many activities such as student government, football, track, and dramatics. An accomplished musician, he began the study of piano at the age of eight at the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music.

Austin's new Headmaster graduated cum laude from Villanova University in 1958. In the ensuing four years of graduate studies he received two Master's degrees, one in education from Catholic University and the other in theology from Augustinian College in Washington, D.C. His Master's thesis done in education dealt with the conditions of service of lay teachers in selected Catholic prep schools across the country. Fr. Maloney has also written several articles for publication on the lay teacher's important role in Catholic education.

Ordained an Augustinian priest in 1962, the same year Austin was founded, Fr. Maloney was assigned to Archbishop Carroll High School in Washington, D.C. where he taught English and Latin. He also moderated a host of activities ranging from the spirit committee to dramatics. In an unprecedented fund-raising campaign, the Carroll students under Fr. Maloney's leadership raised nearly $30,000 in two weeks to complete the facilities of the school's football stadium. In 1964 he was named Dean of Students putting him in charge of the discipline of Carroll's 900 students.

So successful was his relationship with students that he won special commendation from the visiting committee from the Middle States Accrediting Association. His demands on students for academic excellence as a teacher of English won advanced placement in college for many of his students. While at Carroll, Fr. Maloney was also active in many community organizations and worked for closer ties with the alumni.

In 1966 Fr. Maloney returned to Catholic University to continue his doctoral studies. As a teaching fellow there he taught and directed research in educational administration and supervision. This experience brought him into contact with administrative problems of school systems in various parts of the world as well as here in the United States. His own doctoral dissertation dealt with the educational philosophy of Augustinian schools tracing their centuries-old tradition in Europe and America with particular applications to the needs of students who attend Augustinian institutions of learning in the United States.

Father Maloney is a member of several educational societies including: the American Association of School Administrators, the National, the National Education Association, the National Catholic Educational Association, the National School Public Relations Association, and the American Association for Higher Education. For the past two years Fr. Maloney was Chairman of the philosophy and objectives committee of the Augustinian Educational Association.

Before his appointment as Headmaster of Austin Prep, Fr. Maloney taught two courses in educational administration at Villanova University's Summer Session.

League Has New Book

The League of Women Voters of the United States has come forth in this election year with a timely new book, "Choosing the President." This handy reference, highly readable, yet carefully documented, explains step-by-step just how the President of the United States is nominated and elected.

Part I of "Choosing the President" answers such questions as: "how are delegates to the national conventions chosen?"; "how many electoral votes does my state have?"; and "if no presidential candidate receives a majority of the electoral college's votes, how is the President chosen?"

Part II gives facts and figures illustrating the choosing process, including qualifications for the presidency and vice presidency, and operational details about the national committee, convention committees, and convention voting.

"Choosing the President" may be ordered locally from Mrs. Paul Moomjian, 14 Hemlock Rd.

The Andover League of Women Voters also wishes to stress that in the few weeks remaining before the national conventions there is still time for citizens to write or phone their delegates to express their opinions on party platforms or candidates before the conventions begin. Of local interest the delegate to the Republican Convention, which begins Aug. 5, is Paul W. Cronin, 8 Punchard Ave. The Democratic Convention, beginning Aug. 26, is represented locally by Mayor Daniel P. Kiley, 635 Haverhill St., Lawrence, and Lawrence P. Smith, 95 Butler St., Lawrence, alternate.

BUSINESS PROFILESBowling Lanes Being Buffed

Andover Recreation, 34 Park Street in Andover re-opened this week for your bowling pleasure. All lanes have been buffed, as shown above and everything is in readiness for summer bowling in air conditioned comfort, as well as a full season of bowling in the fall and winter months ahead.

Bowling is a sport for the entire family, as evidenced by the leagues at Andover Recreation. Reservations are now being taken for fall leagues for office and company groups, church organizations, fraternal groups, couples clubs, and men's or women's social groups. On September 14, children's leagues will start, including the Pee Wee league for 13 and under and the Junior league for the 14 to 17 year olds. These leagues run all winter and end with banquets, trophies and awards. Andover Recreation welcomes birthday parties and special gatherings at all times. In addition to league bowling, there are still plenty of lanes available for those who wish to drop in and bowl a few strings to keep in shape or pass a few hours in pleasant, competitive recreation.

The Andover Recreation also has a billiard room that is completely air conditioned. Both pocket and carom tables are available.

As bowling has increased in popularity over the years, the Andover Recreation has expanded its facilities to keep up with the demand - from its original 4 bowling lanes to 15 lanes and 3 lively cushioned billiard tables. Each year, the Andover Recreation hosts the Andover Classic and other tournaments that draw New England's finest bowlers to compete for valuable prizes and beautiful trophies.

Bowlers at Andover Recreation can rent or buy famous make bowling shoes, balls and accessories that will improve their score and increase their enjoyment of the game. Bowling there is inexpensive, only 30 cents a string during the day and 40 cents in the evening. Phone 475-9706 any time and inquire about joining or starting a league. Andover Recreation is open during the summer from 1 P.M. - 11 P.M. and after Labor Day will be open their regular hours for the winter season.

attracted a large number of the contractors, but the number dropped off at later sessions. Most of those who came forward said that they had too many contracts of their own signed to be able to devote time to the repair of the school building. There were other complications, including the naming of a clerk of the works to direct the activities of all of the tradesmen. "Who will be the boss" was one of the persistent questions asked of the town manager.

He finally decided to carry on the work on his own and obtained specifications of the different repairs needed in the building. Bids then were requested and contracts awarded.

Up to the present time, some $25,000 of the half million appropriation has been expended. A great deal more work has to be done in both wings of the building. The activity this summer has centered mostly in the old wing on the Bartlet Street side of the structure.

The repair of the East Junior High School is expected to extend beyond the opening of school in September.

lot vote was taken to accept the four-community concept of erecting a treatment plant for all of Greater Lawrence.

The question was: "Shall there be established a Water Pollution Abatement District as recommended by the Division of Water Pollution Control and approved by the Water Resources Commission, to include the city of Lawrence and the Towns of Methuen, North Andover and Andover, and the construction, acquisition, extension, improvement, maintenance and operation of a system of water pollution abatement facilities by the said District in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 21 of the General Laws?"

Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien will be asked to rule if the action taken at the March town meeting was legal.

The request for the town counsel's ruling, Town Manager Richard J. Bowen reported, is that the town meeting action was taken prior to the enactment of the legislation.

In the event he rules in the negative, an article will be inserted in the special town meet-

The Oct. 7 special town meeting will come within the 90 day period when the legislation becomes effective.

The new multimillion dollar treatment plant is scheduled to be erected near the Lawrence municipal airport in North Andover on the south bank of the Merrimack River.
